About the Author: Mayflower Compact Signers

Debra Georgantis-Miller, M.Ed.

... is a highly respected and popular educator, speaker, author, and Mayflower historian. She has traveled extensively in the United States and abroad doing research for her published work, which includes 26 biographical mini-booklets about the signers of the Mayflower Compact and From the Seeds of Cambridge, England to the Planting of a Colony in Plimoth Mass as well as a new book, The Mayflower Compact Signers, 1620-2020 400th Anniversary Limited Edition.

The new offering is a compilation of the 26 booklets, which have a wide following in Mayflower circles. Beth Lambright, governor of the Oregon Society of Mayflower Descendants, says her society gives the booklets to every new junior member but that they are also in demand from adult members. "They are concise in research and filled with information that every member would want," she describes.

The compilation turns Ms. Georgantis-Miller's work into an educational resource of great appeal for many different audiences. The new book will be a valuable library reference and a great gift for any Mayflower descendant, student, or history buff.

"Mayflower Compact Signers is your history, your past, your future, and your destiny," Ms. Georgantis-Miller comments. "It teaches us to push ahead, recognize and learn from our transgressions, and ultimately create a better existence for ourselves and our future generations."

Mayflower Compact Signers was published to coincide with the 400th anniversary of the Mayflower landing in America on November 11, 1620 and, as indicated in its title, is a limited edition. While it is available, it may be purchased on the Pennsylvania Mayflower Society website at www.sail1620.org for $21.00, which includes shipping. The book is lightweight and portable, 5.5" x 8.5" in size with 102 pages and a soft cover binding. The mini-booklets about each of the signers also are available on the site; click "Store" to see all available products.

Ms. Georgantis-Miller is a former General Society of Mayflower Descendants Junior Committee chair and currently serves as deputy governor of the Pennsylvania Society. She received the John M. Hunt, Jr. Distinguished Pilgrim award in 2012.
